

Company XTO Energy, Inc.
Well Golden Eagle 33-01
Field Purgatoire River
County Las Animas

Date
Run Number
Depth Driller
Depth Logger
Bottom Logged Int
Top Log Interval
Open Hole Size
Type Fluid
Density / Viscosity
Max. Recorded Te
Estimated Cement
Time Well Ready
Time Logger on B
Equipment Numbe
Location
Recorded By Witnessed By
Run Number
Run Number
Run Number
Run Number
Run Number
Run Number
Casing Record
Surface String
Prot. String
Production String
Liner

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) and the number of people in the public sector has increased by 2.5 million (1990–1999) (Department of Health 2000).

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the best possible value for money. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1999, the Health Service Act 2001, and the Health Service Act 2004. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that the public sector is organised and managed, and have led to a number of improvements in the way that the public sector delivers services to the public.

One of the key challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the best possible value for money. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1999, the Health Service Act 2001, and the Health Service Act 2004. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that the public sector is organised and managed, and have led to a number of improvements in the way that the public sector delivers services to the public.

One of the key challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the best possible value for money. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1999, the Health Service Act 2001, and the Health Service Act 2004. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that the public sector is organised and managed, and have led to a number of improvements in the way that the public sector delivers services to the public.

One of the key challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the best possible value for money. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1999, the Health Service Act 2001, and the Health Service Act 2004. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that the public sector is organised and managed, and have led to a number of improvements in the way that the public sector delivers services to the public.

One of the key challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the best possible value for money. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1999, the Health Service Act 2001, and the Health Service Act 2004. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that the public sector is organised and managed, and have led to a number of improvements in the way that the public sector delivers services to the public.

One of the key challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the best possible value for money. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1999, the Health Service Act 2001, and the Health Service Act 2004. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that the public sector is organised and managed, and have led to a number of improvements in the way that the public sector delivers services to the public.

One of the key challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the best possible value for money. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1999, the Health Service Act 2001, and the Health Service Act 2004. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that the public sector is organised and managed, and have led to a number of improvements in the way that the public sector delivers services to the public.

One of the key challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector and to ensure that the public sector is able to deliver the best possible value for money. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1999, the Health Service Act 2001, and the Health Service Act 2004. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that the public sector is organised and managed, and have led to a number of improvements in the way that the public sector delivers services to the public.

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

Handwritten blue mark.

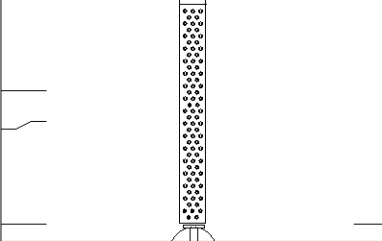

Handwritten blue mark.

Handwritten red mark.

WVF5	12.82		CBL-4 (Titan4)	8.15	2.25	110.00
WVF3	11.82
CENT	8.48

