

A wide-angle photograph of a field. The foreground is filled with dry, yellowish-brown grass, appearing somewhat sparse and disturbed. In the middle ground, there is a denser area of similar vegetation. In the far distance, a line of trees and a few small structures are visible against a cloudy, overcast sky. A red-bordered white box is overlaid at the bottom right of the image, containing text.

The reference area is in the foreground (Disturbed/Developed) and beyond (Sagebrush-Cheatgrass Rangeland) immediately north of the location as shown in the looking North photograph