The image shows an oil well pumpjack and separator in a field. The pumpjack is a large, white, cylindrical tank with a metal frame. It is connected to a black pipe that runs horizontally across the frame. The pipe has several valves and a pressure gauge. The background is a field of dry, yellow grass under a clear sky. A blue sign with white text is in the foreground, providing contact information for Stelbar Oil Corporation, Inc. and the location of the well.
