General Comment:

While nearby for plugging of the DB Orphan Blair well, contractor closed the valve on this well and began removing the bullplug to install a pressure gauge. Gas was hissing as the bullplug was unscrewed. Hissing did not decrease so the bullplug was re-tightened. No pressure reading was taken but the well does have some pressure. The well is located in a fenced pasture. See attached photos. GPS reading taken by C. Browning and an API # was created for this orphan well.
