Flowline NTO

The image shows an industrial site, likely an oil and gas wellhead. In the background, a large, cylindrical concrete storage tank is visible. To the left of the tank, a metal staircase with perforated steel steps and railings leads up to a platform. The ground is covered with dry grass and some green weeds. In the foreground, a black sign with white and grey text is mounted on a black post. The sign provides information about the property owner, the well location, and an emergency contact number. The sky is overcast, and the overall scene is rural.
