Mr. James A. McKee, Associate
Petroleum Engineer
Oil & Gas Conservation Commission

Dear Mr. McKee:

With reference to your letter of January 22, 1969 regarding the No. 2-A Blumenkamp, we can not see that it is any more Mr. Ryan's liability than that of any other of the stockholders. If it is a corporation liability, it should have been discharged before the assets were distributed. If it is a liability that stays with the oil production, then it is a current operating expense. It would further appear that the insurance company who insured the corporation at the time the well was plugged would be liable.

Yours truly,

Ryan Oil Company
